PREFACE

THE AIM of this booklet is to provide an Index of the Headings under which different industries appear in the 1958 edition of the Standard Industrial Classification. For this purpose the names of industries have been re-arranged in alphabetical order. Alongside each is given the Minimum List Heading to which the industry is classified. The numbers of Minimum List Headings are those in the Standard Industrial Classification. Thus the entry "Addressing machine manufacture..... 338" means that the industry "Addressing machine manufacture" is classified in Minimum List Heading 338—Office machinery—while the entry "Acetic acid manufacture..... 271/3" means that the industry "Acetic acid manufacture" is classified in Minimum List Heading 271—Chemicals and Dyes, Sub-division 3—Other chemicals.

Industries and different classes of activity may be known under different names. Some industries have been classified in this alphabetical index under alternative titles by which they may be described but it has obviously not been possible to list separately all possible variations in these titles. Words such as "manufacturing" and "making" can often be regarded as inter-changeable and "dealer" taken as synonymous with "shopkeeper", "merchant", "agent", "broker" or "factor".

NATIONAL INCOME STATISTICS

Sources and Methods

Since 1941 official estimates of the national income and expenditure of the United Kingdom have been made by the Central Statistical Office in collaboration with the Statistics Divisions of Government Departments. They are published as background material for each year's Budget. This book is the first detailed explanation to be published both of the system of ideas underlying the statistics, and of the ways in which the estimates are built up from the basic statistical sources. It has been prepared as a companion to the official publications containing the national income statistics—the preliminary national income white papers published in March or April each year immediately before the Budget, and the much more detailed National Income Blue Books published in the summer.

The basic statistics on which the estimates rest have been greatly developed in recent years. Although still subject to considerable improvement, the main features of the methods used are now firmly established and this book should remain a comprehensive guide to the national income statistics for several years.

Since most descriptions and forecasts of the economic situation are nowadays cast in terms of the statistics of aggregate output, income and expenditure described in the book, it will be useful to those interested in economic analysis and policy and in particular to industrialists, journalists, and market research workers. It should also be of special value to teachers and students of economics.
